

Epiphany

Is celebrated by Christians all over the world on the 6th January.

Many artists have tried to show us what it might have looked like when the wise men or magi followed the star in the sky that led them to the place where baby Jesus was, with Mary & Joseph.

Draw a picture in the shape of the wise men visiting Jesus. What do you think they looked like?

What modern day gifts would you take to the baby Jesus to show how special he is? Draw them here.

In New York city, USA, they have a Kings' Day Parade on the feast of the Epiphany. Here are some kings getting ready to walk in the parade procession through the city.

In Italy, La Bafana the friendly witch brings Epiphany presents on the night of 5th January for all the children, ready for the celebration next day. Here are some Bafana puppets in a procession on 6th January in Rome.

Make your own Bafana witch using card or paper, pipe cleaners and junk!
